In the published version of information about ethical approval is missing. Therefore, the authors would like to add the following ethics statement:

In France, projects that do not constitute biomedical research and present minimal risk (as defined by the French 2022 Jardé law) are exempt from ethical review. This study falls under that category. Informed consent was obtained from all participants, and GDPR guidelines were strictly followed to ensure data security.